

These neighbors look out for each other to make sure each gets time to do what they love.

When the neurons sense that we are well fed, POMC neurons can fire and we can spend our energy playing and exercising

