

Pyramidal (Peer-ram-mid-dal) cells are the most common excitatory cell in the brain! They help with many things including vision and decision-making

But whatever they are doing they are the cells pumping up everyone else- just like cheerleaders in a game

